

MASSES IN THE STREETS, MULTIKULTI REACTS CALMLY TO EVEN DEEPER CONSPIRACY

By Dr. Nothing :: Communication Art

Random specimen at the typewriter, subjected to the MK-GARLIC program

Sales of typewriters skyrocket from the shelves of thrift stores due to NSA hysteria. Office stores across the nation scurry to only find the remaining stock of ribbons are all dried out. Mass panic in the streets ensue. However at multikulti we are aware that our eyes have been compromised by spy neural-nano-bots sprayed by chemtrails. So we work without the need of ribbons and instead use lemon juice.

However in the grand scheme of things, intellectually advanced cockroaches that live in deep Earth are conspiring a complete take over of Earth's surface after their plan of complete nuclear fallout and devastation on the surface is realized in the hands of human pawns. Dreadsen, as seen in the video (tiny.cc/dm02), is working on identifying the locations of these cockroaches to remove their menace on all other life, including shared interests with our extraterrestrial fellows in the sparing of humans to welcome them into the age of enlightenment, abundance and free energy.

Right now the cockroaches still have humans in their clutches and we at multikulti are determined, with our ability to transfer and re-materialize boric acid through the medium of mind waves and to triangulate to their locations, complete borification.

Disclaimer: This is fictional humor that may or may not parallel your understanding of the truth. However access to the typewriter is universal at multikulti.

Our 100+ year plan to eradicate them by putting borax in laundry detergent, there after their use, flushed into the grounds via channels in sewers, has failed to show any positive results in their defeat. There is no diplomacy with these cockroaches as they do not possess the function nor ability of empathy, not even for their own kind. However they have fooled us in believing they have empathy for the past 10,000 years. We have learned through the advancements of understanding psychology in the 19th and 20th centuries to identify their quality of existence as the unequivocal sociopath.

You can join the movement at multikulti by making use of our newest technology — The NSA Proof Typewriter. Next time you are at multikulti or a Q4 event, feel free to jot down a random thought anonymously.

Jazz Nights Cures the Docile

By Dr. Nothing :: Communication Art

Every Tuesday night the zombies awake for their daily dose of vibrational treatment at multikulti from 10PM into the dawn, returning ready to function for their day jobs the next day. "The metaphysical discussions that arise after a free Mocha from Marla filled my mind's faculties once they were freed from the mundane side effects of daily television and fluoridated water. The vibrations of the jazz helps," claimed Alfred. Another person was intrigued by the thought connect with drummer Vincent on the topic of life vs. the game frogger where the frogs were driving, when all of the sudden "Eureka" yelled Hektor just after he discovered how to start broadcasting multikulti Television to bring healing to the masses. He looked at Aleatory and spoke: "Let's start a playlist and anytime we have caring curing vibrations we stream it live." Aleatory replied "Well we would have to find an effective medium to stream." Hektor then informed Aleatory that he might have a connection to propagate the modulated frequencies through the power lines in a way to resonate not just televisions but all devices that people plug in their outlets. So while we beta-test streaming those folks that have been fully zombified by their devices by the shadow with frivolously mundane programming can still get the live stream at mkchi.org/live for now and in the hope for their betterment can get in person treatment to their faculties by showing up in person to the jazz. They can get a free dose of espresso drinks to help open the capillaries in their brain for high bandwidth free flow un-intercepted reception. We guarantee, there won't be a drag.

Free the Human Breed with the [beep]

Illinois NORML redefines what it means to be normal: Yourself. So inspired by being ourselves we welcome other selves to join the discussion of NORML's goals of complete legalization of [beep.] IL-NORML's big win has made headlines with the passing of the medical use, due to go in effect January of 2014. Project MK-NORML strives to induce the mass population in the experience of being themselves with monthly meetings at 7pm every first Wednesday of the month. You can hypertravel to their digital address at the tap of the keys: illinoisnorml.org

MK is back to Green

The green screen (chromakey) studio has reopened with a batch of brand new lights donated by Dreadsen (Media Skeptic.) We have catered our green screen to all types of talent in the past from music video production to rap news and comic relief. If you would like to have a show or need a space to create or continue your show let us know by emailing us at multikulti. We accept donations for the use of the room and the old rate of $10/hr. continues.

Stay tuned for more episodes of Media Skeptic. Watch previous episodes here: mediaskeptic.net

MK+CIMC=POW!

Members of Multikulti have been involved in producing Independent Media Television with Indymedia since episode 86. We hooked up with Indymedia when we availed our space and resources for the NATO convergence center May of 2012 (see Natoindymedia YouTube channel) as was seen on ABC news: tiny.cc/mknato

The program airs on the first and third Monday of every month at 11pm local time in Chicago on channel 19 and also on Free Speech TV internationally. We are always prepping future issues. Deadline for submissions is middle of the month. You can also watch the episodes online as well as material that does not make it into the program on the CIMC channel on YouTube (youtube.com/cimc). We are always looking for volunteer submissions and we are also short of available hosts to host the program. If you are interested in getting involved, give us a holler.